

2008 AARP Voters' Guide

Iowa Senate District 20

How to use the AARP Voters' Guide:
Here's how this Voters' Guide works. AARP asked key questions about issues important to our members and their families of each major candidate for this race. Each candidate was allowed up to 125 words to answer each question. AARP did not edit or modify those answers. The candidates were asked to check the support or oppose circles. The candidates may have chosen not to check a circle.

AARP has provided a summary of our position for each of the issues.

- Pass this guide on to friends and family.
- Share your views with the candidates.
- Ask for clarification from any candidate whose answer seems unclear.

Be sure to vote on November 4.

Q ■ Would you support or oppose a Consumer Protection bill, creating a private cause of action against consumer fraud?

AARP's Position:

Creating a private cause of action against consumer fraud

Support Oppose

Iowa is the only state in the nation that does not grant individuals a private right of action against acts of consumer fraud. The only entity in Iowa that may file a case under the Consumer Fraud Act is Iowa's Attorney General Office. Receiving over 6000 consumer fraud complaints annually, they cannot and do not prosecute every case of consumer fraud in the State of Iowa.

AARP Iowa's top priority is creating a private cause of action against fraud. Individuals need to be able to pursue remedies, like damages and injunctions, and receive attorney fees so that attorneys will take their case. Iowa should join the rest of the nation and empower individual consumers to fight on their own against frauds perpetrated against them.

AARP believes that Iowa should prioritize providing long-term care in the setting of Iowans' choice, their homes, with just the help they need. The Senior Living Program documented an estimated $2.8 million in "Unmet Needs" (FY 2007) for older Iowans' services like chore assistance, adult day services, and others services. With the natural disasters, that number will rise dramatically. Funding for Iowa's Aging and Disability Resource Center needs to continue to better connect older Iowans to local aging services in their area, a Single Point of Entry System.

AARP supports promoting the independence of seniors and delaying the use of institutional care by:

- Funding the Unmet Service Needs identified in Iowa's Senior Living Program.
- Funding the Aging and Disability Resource Centers (ADRC).

The candidate shoes not to respond by the deadline.

I'm interested in reviewing the results of the legislative study of a single point of entry to determine what the needs are. The results are due prior to the next legislative session. I'll have to qualify my funding answer based on those results and the need.

Certainly delaying long-term care is a good idea because it's a less expensive option but it's also the right thing to do for seniors and their quality of care. My Mother is 88 years old and wants to remain in her own house. I understand her concern and will do what I can to see that it can happen for others.

Q: What specific steps would you take to ensure that all older Iowans, but especially those displaced by natural disaster, have access to affordable housing, and can age in place?

AARP's Position:

Efforts to integrate universal design concepts into home rebuilding and home modification

Support Oppose

State efforts to help local communities rebuild and develop affordable housing options

Support Oppose

About half of Iowans over 65 live in homes built before 1960. Universal Design home modifications are a way to make older homes convenient for Iowans as they age. With Iowa's 2008 natural disasters, home issues have taken on a whole new meaning. The state can play a role in helping Iowans rebuild or modify their home with universal design concepts to allow better and safer living, and avoid institutional care longer. AARP supports state efforts to encourage and integrate universal design concepts into home rebuilding efforts and home modifications.

Additionally, as Iowans have been displaced by the disasters, especially in low income housing areas, affordable housing is a critical issue. AARP supports state efforts to work with devastated local communities to help develop affordable housing options.

The redesign ideas make sense for the safety and well being of seniors. Things such as wider doors, non-slip bathrooms, one level remodeling all makes sense.

I'm not sure what funding is available for flood damage. As of this date, the state of Iowa is still waiting for the release of funds. Iowa's share is likely to be 10% and we should do all we can to help Iowans recover. Incorporating some of the designs in damage homes makes some sense.

Q ■ What steps would you take at the state level to improve health care quality and make coverage affordable and accessible to more Iowans?

AARP's Position:

Open existing programs to the uninsured

Support Oppose

Subsidizing Private health coverage

Support Oppose

Adopting national standards for health care quality reporting

Support Oppose

HF 2539 established a pilot project for pre-Medicare adults (age 50-65) to provide coverage by direct care workers and eliminated pre-existing conditions roadblocks as people move between plans. AARP Iowa supports measures to achieve access to affordable health care coverage for all individuals, including pre-Medicare adults.

HF 2539 also began a health care transparency initiative, access to information related to health care quality and price. The next step is for Iowa's providers to report national standard quality indicators so that Iowans can compare indicators between states.

Affordable, accessible health care will be a top priority issue for me if I'm elected to the Senate. I'm concerned that people are unable to transfer coverage when they change jobs or become unemployed. The intent of the legislature was to help all Iowans have health insurance, beginning with children. I support that concept. Two study groups are working on that right now. I'd like to work with the pooling of insurance for small business and self-employed so that affordable rates are available to every Iowans.
