Terms of Use for Datasets

By downloading the survey datasets made available on this web site (“Datasets”) you are agreeing to be bound by the AARP Terms of Service, the AARP Privacy Policy, and the Terms of Use for Datasets set forth below. If you do not agree to be bound by these terms, do not download or use the Datasets.

1. AARP’s Limited License to You.

The Datasets constitute AARP intellectual property and/or the property of our affiliates or licensors, and are protected by copyright, trademark, and other intellectual property laws. You may only use the Datasets as authorized by AARP. You may not use the Datasets in any manner that violates the privacy rights, publicity rights, copyrights, trademark rights, patent rights, contract rights, or any other rights belonging to AARP or a third party. You may use the Datasets solely for research, scholarly or academic purposes, or your own personal, non-commercial use. Further, you may not reproduce, sell, rent, lease, loan, distribute or sublicense, or otherwise transfer any Datasets, in whole or in part, to any other party, or use the Datasets to create any derivative work or product for resale, lease or license. Notwithstanding the foregoing, you may incorporate limited portions of the Datasets in scholarly, research or academic publications or for the purposes of news reporting provided that you

   a. expressly provide attribution in the manner provided by AARP in connection with the Datasets
   b. do not use the Datasets in any manner that implies, suggests, or could otherwise be perceived as attributing a particular policy or lobbying objective or opinion to the AARP, and
   c. include the following disclaimer: “The opinions expressed herein, or conclusions drawn, including any implications for policy, are those of the author and not of AARP.”

2. Privacy

AARP is committed to respecting and protecting the privacy of individuals. AARP has taken measures to ensure that the Datasets are devoid of information that could be used to identify individuals (including, but not limited to, names, telephone numbers and email addresses) who participated in or who were the subject of any research surveys or studies used to collect the Datasets (“Personally Identifying Information”). However, in the event that you discover any such Personally Identifying Information in the Datasets, you shall immediately notify AARP and refrain from using any such Personally Identifying Information. You further agree not to (and not allow others to) attempt to ascertain the identity of or derive information about individual survey respondents nor link the individual survey records contained in the Datasets with other datasets for the purpose of identifying individuals.

3. Confidentiality. You shall maintain the Datasets as confidential, and will not use it, in any way nor disclose it to any third party, except as expressly permitted under this Agreement. You agree, at your sole expense, to take reasonable precautions to protect the confidentiality of Datasets, at least as stringent as you take to protect your own confidential information, but in no case less than reasonable care. The foregoing confidentiality obligations shall not apply to any information which: (a) is known to you prior to receipt from AARP other than as a result of your breach of any legal obligation; (b) becomes known (independently of disclosure by AARP) to you directly or indirectly from a source having the legal right to disclose such information; (c) is or becomes publicly known, except through a breach of this Agreement by you; or (d) is required to be disclosed by you to comply with applicable laws or governmental regulations, provided that you give AARP, to the extent practicable, reasonable prior written notice of such disclosure sufficient to permit AARP to contest such disclosure and you take reasonable and lawful actions to avoid and/or minimize the extent of such disclosure. The parties agree that any breach of the confidentiality obligations of this Agreement by you will result in irreparable damage to AARP for which it will have no adequate remedy at law. Therefore, it is agreed that AARP shall be entitled to equitable relief, including an injunction enjoining any such breach by any court of competent jurisdiction. Such injunction shall be without prejudice to any other right or remedy to which AARP may be entitled, including but not limited to any damages resulting from AARP’s breach of the confidentiality obligations under this Agreement. Any failure or delay in exercising any right, power or privilege hereunder shall not operate as a waiver thereof, nor shall any single or partial exercise thereof preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise of any right, power or privilege hereunder. You will immediately notify AARP and cooperate with investigations, and provide any information reasonably requested by AARP if you know of or suspect any breach of security or potential vulnerability of the Datasets and will promptly remedy such breach.

4. Indemnification. You shall indemnify and hold harmless AARP, its affiliates and related organizations, and each of their respective officers, directors, employees, legal representatives, agents, successors and assigns, from and against any damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys’ and professionals’ fees and court costs arising out of any third-party claims based on (a) your access or use of the Datasets; (b) any changes made by you to the Datasets; or (c) any breach by you of any of these Terms of Use.
5. Termination. AARP reserves the right, at any time and without notice, to suspend, cancel, or terminate your right to use the Datasets for violation (whether repeated or not) of copyrights or any other rights belonging to AARP or a third party. Upon termination, you agree to destroy all copies of any Datasets, in whole or in part and in any and all media, in your custody and control.
