Section 3: COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES, ENGAGEMENTS and COLLABORATIONS

1) Please provide a brief summary of the community policies, programs and services that are targeted toward older people and how the community plans to become more age-friendly.

Currently the Town of Newtown works through its commission on aging, senior services department, social services department and specifically through the town municipal agent to provide services to seniors in Newtown. The senior services department operates a senior center which provides extensive programming for seniors. In addition the senior services department works with local businesses and the police department in a Triad program which provides education and support in connection with fraud. All of the above named departments and commissions work to provide disparate services including meals on wheels, congregate meal sites, transportation, fuel assistance, housing issues and nutrition support. Newtown is undergoing change as the population shifts toward older age groups. It has become apparent that renewed and more coordinated efforts are needed to meet the needs of a growing senior population. To that end the town is committed to increasing communication and cooperation between, and among, town resources as well as non profit, for profit, general service and religious organizations. The town also has a commitment to senior housing, affordable housing, tax reduction programs and walkable town centers.

2) How will the community engage and involve older people in the process of becoming a more age-friendly?

The Friends of Newtown Seniors provides opportunities for all interested seniors to become involved. The organization has actively recruited seniors and formed a number of action committees to directly involve seniors at every level. The Friends of Newtown Seniors, through its work with the Commission on Aging, Senior Services, Social Services and other organizations serving Newtown, has formed the following action committees: Government – to attend meetings and educate seniors on issues that affect their lives; Health and Wellness – to involve seniors directly in programs which promote healthy life styles and to educate seniors on these issues; Finance – to work with existing Triad programs to educate and protect seniors from financial scams and fraud; Publicity and electronic communication – involves seniors in the development of promotional materials and the use of electronic media to communicate with the general community; Activities committee – allows seniors to be directly involved in planning and implementing programs; Volunteer – to connect seniors with opportunities to serve the community.

3) Briefly describe the mechanisms the community has or is planning to put in place to facilitate collaborative planning and implementation between different agencies and departments.

During the winter of 2017 a summit is planned which will bring together all the agencies and departments which provide services to seniors with the goal of improving communication and cooperation between and among departments and agencies. Law enforcement, senior services, the commission on aging, service clubs including Lions and Exchange, Visting nurses as well as other health care providers, Friends of Newtown Seniors, social services and the interfaith council will meet to discuss coordination of resources. A plan for ongoing inteatation will be designed and implemented. The goal of this interaction is to maximize the effectiveness of existing programs and develop new approaches to address the needs of the senior population in Newtown.

Section 4: NETWORK MEMBERSHIP

Your answers to the following questions will help us complete your membership in the global age-friendly network and better enable us to understand how to support the network.

4) How do you hope to contribute to the AARP Network of Age-Friendly Communities and the World Health Organization Global Network of Age-Friendly Communities?

It is the goal of Newtown to provide a model for the implementation of age friendly strategies in any town looking to improve its services to seniors. It is our hope that the initiatives and strategies implemented in Newtown can be duplicated by others in any community anywhere. The obvious cultural differences that exist throughout the world often conceal the not so obvious similarities of caring, charity, and cooperation that characterize most world cultures. We hope that our efforts will bring to light some of the positive attributes of humanity concerning age differences and respect for each individual.

5) What motivated your community to join the AARP Network of Age-Friendly Communities and the World Health Organization Global Network of Age-Friendly Communities?

The growing concern for the well being of our senior population was of course the major stimulus for our call to action. With the lengthening of life spans and cultural changes related to all aspects of life, we face challenges that previous generations did not know. One of the outward signs of this change is the involuntary emigration of seniors from their long time home to “more affordable” circumstances in another town, state or region. A move should be a voluntary choice based on wants and desires not a forced decision based on need. Our goal is to offer every individual choices in how and where they live. With the proper support mechanisms most seniors can remain in their homes and maintain an involved life style.
