What The Economy Means To Voters 50+

Key findings from survey conducted July 2012 for

Methodology

- ◆ Nationwide telephone survey conducted July 10 to 16, 2012 among registered voters
- ◆ Interviews conducted with core sample of 1,001 registered voters, plus oversamples to provide larger samples of voters age 50 and over
- ◆ Total sample sizes:
 - 1,331 voters age 50 and over (MOE = 2.7 percentage points), including
 - 536 “Boomers” – non-retired voters age 50 to 64 (MOE = 4.2 percentage points)
 - 679 age 50+ Retired voters (MOE = 3.7 percentage points)
 - 517 voters age 18 to 49 (MOE = 4.3 percentage points)

Overview

- ◆ Non-retired Boomers feel great economic anxiety across party lines. This is reflected in a new "Anxiety Index" that measures their worries on such issues as prices rising faster than incomes, health expenses, and retirement security. They also feel that political gridlock negatively affected their economic circumstances.
- ◆ A major driver of economic anxiety is concern over retirement security: 72% believe they will have to delay retirement, 65% worry they won't have a comfortable retirement, and 50% don't think they'll ever be able to retire. This insecurity leads Boomers to conclude that Medicare and Social Security have become even more important for their future.

- ◆ This anxiety underscores the importance of strengthening Medicare and Social Security for current and future generations. Voters 50+ believe the next president and Congress will need to act to strengthen Medicare and Social Security for the future, and that both parties will have to come together to find a solution.
- ◆ 50+ voters want to know where the candidates stand on Medicare, Social Security, and other vital issues. But they report that the candidates have done a poor job explaining their plans on priority issues, including strengthening Social Security (67%), strengthening Medicare (63%), reducing the budget deficit (66%), and taxes (57%).
