

2015 AARP Caregiving Survey of Texas Registered Voters Age 45 and Older: Family Caregiver Profile

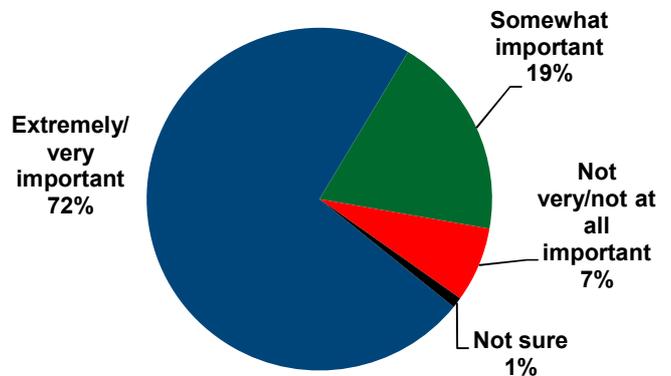

More than three-quarters (77%) of Texas registered voters age 45 and older believe that being cared for at home with caregiver assistance is the ideal situation when the basic tasks of life become more difficult due to aging or illness. In fact, over half (54%) of Texas registered voters age 45 and older say they are providing (20%) or have provided care (43%) on an unpaid basis for an adult loved one who is ill, frail, elderly or who has a disability.

Most Texas caregivers are helping or have helped their loved ones with shopping (90%), transportation (87%), meal preparation (85%), household chores (83%), as well as more complex care like managing medications and other nursing and medical tasks (73%). About seven in ten (71%) of these caregivers say it is at least somewhat likely that they will need to provide this type of care in the future. As such, these caregivers believe it is important to be able to provide care so that their loved ones can keep living independently in their own home and to have more caregiver resources and training that allows family caregivers to continue to provide in-home care.

The average Texas caregiver is 55 years old or older, and the majority is female (62%), married or living with significant other (70%), college educated (69%), retired or not working (51%), and has an annual household income of less than $75,000 (51%).

AARP Texas commissioned a telephone survey of 1,000 Texas registered voters age 45 and older to learn about their experiences with family caregiving. This report highlights results from residents interviewed between February 12 and February 22, 2015. The data in this report has been weighted by age and gender to reflect the Texas registered voter population age 45 and older. The survey has a margin of error of ± 3.2 percent. A fully annotated survey with question wording and responses will be available at www.aarp.org/research.
