AARP Members are politically diverse:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Political Views</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Conservative</td>
<td>36%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moderate</td>
<td>38%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liberal</td>
<td>26%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Differences Among Subgroups

- Black/African American Members are more likely to self-identify as Moderate (57%) and less apt to see themselves as Conservative (18%).
- Participation in civic activities tends to increase after age 60. Hispanic Members (83%) are less likely than other multicultural groups to report civic participation.

Most Members (89%) report participating in civic activities in some way over the past 5 years, with voting in a Presidential election (83%) and/or State or local election (79%) the most common forms of engagement, followed by:

- Contributed money to a candidate or political party (30%)
- Contacted a public official to express views on an issue (28%)
- Used social media to express political opinions (18%)
- Met with an elected official (15%)
- Participated in a political event or town meeting (15%)

VOTE HERE

https://doi.org/10.26419/res.00514.052

© 2021 AARP. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.