Helping adults stay mobile and independent is key to keeping them connected to their communities. Expanding opportunities for safe and accessible walking, biking, public transit, ride share, and other means of mobility create more livable places for all.

Almost
8 in 10 and 9 in 10 adults 18 to 49 and adults 50+
drive themselves to get where they need to go

About
6 in 10 and 4 in 10 adults 18 to 49 and adults 50+
walk or bike to get where they need to go

About
4 in 10 and 2 in 10 adults 18 to 49 and adults 50+
use another form of transportation, such as public transit, ride share, taxi, or special transportation

More than 9 in 10 adults
say it is important for their community to have streets, sidewalks, and dedicated pathways for all users, including pedestrians, bicyclists, and motorists

At least
3 in 4 adults
say it is important to have close, affordable public transit options, and special transportation services for older adults and those with disabilities