

Background

Americans over the age of 50 consistently show up more often to vote compared to younger voters. Given the influence this powerful voting bloc will likely have on the 2018 mid-term elections, AARP surveyed 606 voters age 50 and older in New Jersey's 7th Congressional District between September 7-18, 2018, to assess what would be on their minds when they cast their ballots this fall and which candidates they would be backing.ⁱ

Political divisiveness is a top concern with New Jersey CD-7 voters age 50+ (50%). More than half disapprove of the performance of Republicans (55%) and Democrats (58%) in Congress, and 46% disapprove of the job President Trump is doing. While voters age 50+ generally see the U.S. economy getting stronger (55%), this optimism is not reflected in their own financial security with more than four out of five feeling like they are not getting ahead.
